Excerpt: . . . of defence, effectually to secure this important acquisition of territory to the crown of Great Britain. I am restoring order as fast as possible, from the Confusion naturally occasioned by a siege, and have the pleasure to observe that every thing in the forts is as tranquil and well-regulated as could be expected in the time. I shall not lose a moment in embarking ordnance and ordnance stores; with troops, and c. to prosecute with vigour the execution of such other objects and services as his majesty has been pleased to trust to me; and hope to be enabled to proceed before much time can elapse, after regulating the garrisons of these forts, and all such other matters as require immediate attention—Major Grey, deputy quarter-master-general, will have the honour to deliver this dispatch, and can communicate any other particulars or information you may wish to have. I have the honour, 810. London house, to receive proposals of capitulation for Fort Bourbon, from Colonel DAucourt, captain Duprirat, and Gaschet Dumaine, jun. nominated commissioners for that purpose by general Rochambeau. The following articles were proposed, discussed, and modified, at a second conference held at Port Royal on the 22d of March, 1794. Article I. The garrison, composed of the troops of the line, artillery, gunners of the marine, and national guard, shall march out with colours flying, 30 rounds at man, and two field pieces, with 12 rounds. Answer. The colony of Martinique being already reduced...
