He eagerly listened as the sound-man placed the needle down, only to find that through the tubes he held to his ears came the chilling sounds of a lynching. In this story, w/ its blend of new technology & old hatreds, genteel picnics & mob violence, Edward Ayers captures the history of the South in the years between Reconstruction & the turn of the century. Ranging from the Georgia coast to the Tennessee mountains, from the power brokers to tenant farmers, Ayers depicts a land of startling contrasts. Ayers takes us from remote Southern towns, revolutionized by the spread of the railroads, to the statehouses where Democratic Redeemers swept away the legacy of Reconstruction; from the small farmers, trapped into growing nothing but cotton, to the new industries of Birmingham; from abuse & intimacy in the family to tumultuous public meetings of the prohibitionists. He explores every aspect of society, politics, & the economy, detailing the importance of each in the emerging New South. Central to the entire story is the role of race relations, from alliances & friendships between blacks & whites to the...
